The Diocese Education Performance Datadashboard

The Diocese Education Performance Datadashboard was created with the aim of providing a comparison between a group of centres within a Diocese, and national data. Since its initial conception, the Datadashboard has undergone many updates and developments, primarily based on the feedback of our subscribers, leaving a unique tool which is invaluable in understanding and improving educational performance.

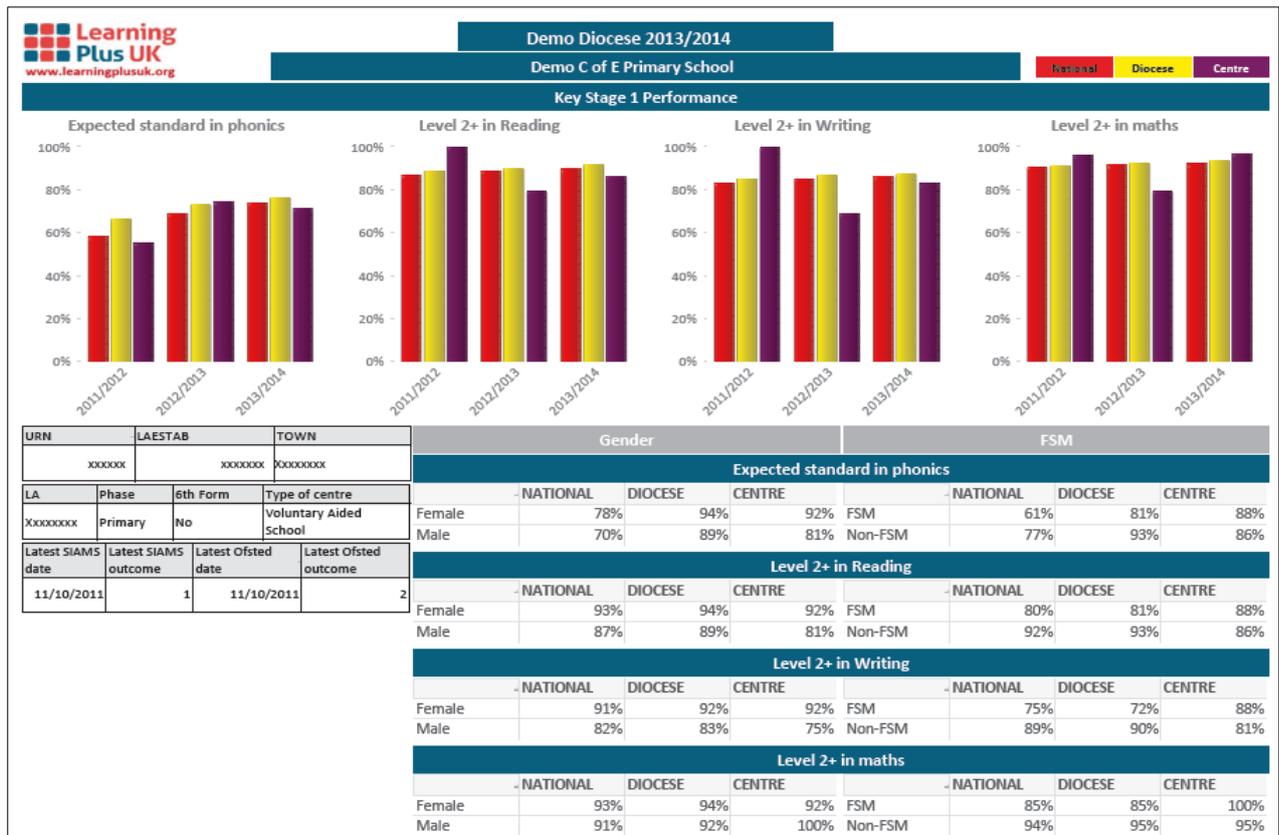

Today, the Diocese Datadashboard houses all of the key information needed in order to get a comprehensive picture of the performance of all centres within your Diocese. All data are presented in clear, easy-to-understand chart format against the performance measures for Key Stages 1, 2, 4 and 5. The data are broken down by characteristics, allowing you to take a closer look at those important 'Closing the Gap' issues. Where available, data are given as three-year trends, enabling a deeper understanding of the progress of each centre within your Diocese, as well as the Diocese as a whole.

For a quick snapshot of performance, the 'Floor Standards' tables show each centre's current position, whether above or below the Floor Standard. This is then broken down further by each measure, which helps when providing support to a centre that is underperforming, or in danger of slipping below the Floor Standard.

Ofsted data charts are provided as standard, demonstrating the percentage of schools within the Diocese falling into the four inspection categories with a comparison between all previous inspections and all current inspections. National data are also included in these charts. SIAMS data charts can also be provided in a similar format, based on up-to-date data received from each Diocese.
